

Mid-Atlantic Numerical Analysis Day

A one-day conference on Numerical Analysis and Scientific Computing for graduate students and post-doctorates. A great opportunity to present your research and to meet other young researchers. The meeting features contributed talks and poster presentations.

Friday, 10 November 2023

Keynote Speaker

Lois Curfman McInnes
Argonne National Laboratory

*Scientific software ecosystems and communities:
Why we need them and how each of us can help them*

Meeting website:

<https://www.math.temple.edu/events/conferences/na-day/>

Register online

There is no registration fee, but every participant needs to register in advance.

Submit an abstract

For a contributed talk or a poster by 6 October 2023. Or simply join as a listener.

Make your own travel arrangements (see website for directions).

Email contact: naday@temple.edu

Organizers: Benjamin Seibold and Daniel B. Szyld

Sponsored by the Department of Mathematics, College of Science and Technology, and the Graduate School, Temple University

